

The explosion of dinosaurs diversity during mesosoic

Dinosaurs are divided in two orders : ornithischian and saurischian, they evolved during mesosoic era (between 252 and 66 Myrs). The graph represents the number of fossiles described by palenonthologist across the geological times for the two orders. Species need time to rich a large diversity and conquer different ecological niches.

The Paleobiology Database revealing the history of life

